

WAYNE BARNETT HARVEY, SR. was born in Sumter County, Georgia on April 3, 1958, to the parentage of late Christine Greene Harvey and Charlie Chris Harvey Sr., who survives. He attended the public schools of Sumter County. In his late teenage years and early twenties, he took upon a strong interest in the central heating and air conditioning field. He spent 40 plus years specializing in sheet metal eventually becoming one of Americus, Georgia's most trusted, reliable, and expert HVAC technician. Due to his compassion and dedication to his work, he became affectionately known as "The Air Condition Man" as he left a legacy of always being efficient in his work and graciously providing free services to families in need and elders in the communities. It was simply his passion. Accompanied by his wife, Deborah Ann Cox Harvey of 42 years, who contributed a great deal to the establishment of his entrepreneurial success over the years. He was a member of Whole Truth International Ministries.

Wayne was also a great fan of music being that he grew up in a musical household. He was a huge fan of The Artist, formerly known as Prince. He created a family bond amongst his kids by repetitively playing Prince's debut film, The Purple Rain and a variety of Prince albums throughout the years. Currently, the kids know the movie and songs verbatim. And that is just one of many ways his legacy will live on.

He is preceded in death by his mother, Christine Greene Harvey and his father-in-law, Mr. Joe Albert Cox, Sr. Furthermore, he is embraced into the tender arms of his beloved mama once again.
